

My family and I are in strong opposition of the weakening of Indiana's laws regarding the Do Not Call List (docket 20-278). Since its implementation, it has significantly reduced the unwanted solicitation calls my family and I never ask for, and never wanted in the first place. I DO NOT buy or even consider discussing any type of business over the phone when someone I don't know calls me. Even if they claim to be from my bank or credit card company, I refuse to talk with them. This is primarily due to the security risk associated with discussing person information with someone you are not sure is whom they say they are and secondarily because if I wanted their service or product I would call them. ALL of these calls are unsolicited and do nothing but waste my time and the person calling. Why can't these companies understand that if I am on this list I will never buy anything from them and they are wasting everyone's time? The only reason they are calling is to trick someone into buying something they don't want. Please DO NOT allow any changes to Indiana's laws protecting my privacy as is what Consumers Bankers Association has proposed.
